A New Emancipation Scheme.

It is strange that Northern people, who have no responsibility on account of slavery, and no right to meddle with it, cannot let the institution alone. But like Tribulation Trepid they are never happy unless they are miserable—either contented with the condition of the slave and desiring some scheme or other for his relief. The project last started has a show of fairness about it, and its originators in all probability mean well, but in their benevolent desire to emancipate the slave they seem to have no thought or concern in regard to his condition when liberated. In their intention "free dom" is the great good of life, and provided that secured they would see the negro deprived of every physical comfort and plunged into the lowest depth of poverty and vice.

The scheme to which we allude originated with Mr. Elihu Burritt, extensively known as the "learned blacksmith," and is now attracting a good deal of attention at the North. The following call for a "National Convention" has been put forth:

"The undersigned, belonging to different political parties, being persuaded that it is very desirable that some practicable and equitable plan should be brought forward by which the people of the North may co-operate, in a generous and brotherly spirit, with the people of the South, and share with them the expense necessary to the extinction of slavery, would respectfully request the aid of all parties and all persons, who entertain the same opinion, to meet in National Convention, personally or by delegation, in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, on the 25th, 26th, and 27th of August, to discuss and develop some plan for the redemption of the Nation, which shall recognize the principle and policy of a fair and honorable compensation to the slave owners for the manumission of their slaves."

There are two hundred and eighty-five names appended to this call, the signers residing in sixteen States and some few in the South. It is scarcely necessary to point out the impracticability and absurdity of the proposition. A fatal objection to it, is that no provision for the emancipated slave seems to be contemplated.

Mr. Burritt and his associates surely do not propose to leave the freed negro in the South; or if they do, Southern people will never consent to it. The idea is utterly preposterous. Possibly it is proposed to ship the negroes to Liberia; but the best friends of the Colonization enterprise would object to that, as likely to overwhelm the infant Republic with a population unqualified for the duties and privileges of citizenship, thus crushing out the only hope for the regeneration of Africa. If, again, it should be proposed to remove the negroes to the North, there are insuperable objections to that plan.

Before Southern masters can be induced to allow their slaves to go North, they must have an assurance that their condition there will be improved. The following extract from a recent letter of Col. J. Prince, a member of the Canadian Parliament, throws light upon the subject. Speaking of the blacks of Toronto, who accused him of having unjustly denounced their people, Col. P. says:

"It has been my misfortune and the misfortune of my family to live among those blacks (and they have lived upon us) for twenty-four years. I have employed hundreds of them; and with the exception of one, named Richard Hunter, not one has done for us a week's honest labor. I have taken them into my service, and have clothed them year after year, and their arrival from the States; and in return have generally found them rogues, and thieves, and a graceless, worthless, trifling, lying set of vagabonds. This is my plain story, and I will not be induced by any of those who are so ready to be indomitable by the aid of the Western white men, with very few exceptions."

The New York Tribune, the great Abolition organ of the country, publishes the above and admits that "its basis of truth must be recognized by the candid." The Tribune further declares that there are more blacks in New York to-day who seek to live by "pandering to other's vices, than by downright, useful labor." This is the condition to which our negroes would be reduced upon removing to the North, according to the testimony of their peculiar friends. At the South, they are usefully employed, well cared for, and contented and happy. Most of them love their masters, and their masters love them two well to send them off to the Northern States, to relapse into a condition worse than barbarism. Under these circumstances, the best plan is for Northern people to attend to their business, and allow Southern people to attend to theirs. It seems to us that Northern philanthropists should feel it to be their special business to see after their own degraded black population, instead of getting up emancipation schemes, with or without "compensation."

They will find ample room for the exercise of benevolent feeling, and plenty of subjects upon whom to expend spare change. Better elevate and improve the condition of negroes now free, than seek to liberate others. And in the meantime they may rest assured that Southern white people are not deficient in the sentiment of benevolence, and while maintaining their own interests, will also discharge their whole duty to the slave.

Rockbridge Alum Springs.
Reports unfavorable to the management of the Rockbridge Alum Springs having reached our ears, personal friendship for the proprietor prompted us to acquire into the matter and ascertain the facts of the case. We applied to a gentleman of this place, who has just returned from the Springs, and he assures us that the reports are not only untrue but that the Springs are fully as well conducted as the Exchange Hotel in Richmond. The table is abundantly supplied with meats and vegetables, and the cooking cannot be surpassed. The bread, pastry and cake are as good as the gentlemen allied to have seen anywhere, and we know he is used to "good eating." The scrupulous cleanliness of the table furniture was a matter of especial commendation, and also the admirable training and good conduct of the servants.

In reference to the manner in which the Springs were kept last Summer, we can speak from our own observation. We arrived there during the absence of the proprietor, and received no more attention than any other guest; yet the fare was excellent, and all the accommodations as good as any reasonable man could expect in the midst of such a crowd. Even then, however, we heard a few persons complaining.

It is easy to account for the evil reports which are spread through the country. Many persons reside in going to the Springs after every plan is completed, even against the remonstrance of the proprietor, and not finding suitable accommodations immediately take their departure denouncing everything about the establishment.

We lay attention to the advertisement of the Springs, in another column.

New Publications.
We have received the August numbers of Emerson's United States Magazine and the United States Review, published by J. M. Emerson at No. 101, Broadway, New York. The price of the magazine is $3 a year, and of the Journal $5 a year. To date of twenty they will be furnished at the rate of $2 and 40 cents, respectively. Both publications are interesting, and the Magazine is highly commended by the National Intelligencer. Specimen numbers may be seen at this office.

Kansas Policy of the Administration.

The Richmond South of Friday last publishes a letter from a leading member of the pro-slavery party in Kansas, dated Atchison, August 12, and remarks upon it as follows:

"Our correspondence from Atchison contains the view we have already expressed upon the Kansas question. To that end all his official acts have been directed. He has openly declared the object and pretext of his policy. The adoption of a slavery constitution, and the admission of Kansas as a slave State, are the two main objects of his administration. He has already secured the election of a Black Republican President. To that end he has already secured the election of a Black Republican President. To that end he has already secured the election of a Black Republican President."

Not a symptom of dissatisfaction has as yet appeared in the Kansas army, which manifested perfect loyalty and repelled indignantly every attempt made to seduce them from their allegiance by emissaries from the pro-slavery party. A list is given of the fifty-six regiments, or portions of regiments, which have enlisted, while thirty have been disbanded, and one disbanded. In fact, the Kansas army has ceased to exist.

The fall of Delhi will do more to open the rebellion than anything else. There is some rebellion about the Kansas country, as the first regiment of cavalry has been sent to the front, and the second regiment of cavalry has been sent to the front, and the third regiment of cavalry has been sent to the front, and the fourth regiment of cavalry has been sent to the front, and the fifth regiment of cavalry has been sent to the front, and the sixth regiment of cavalry has
