I ann J.—There are no two letters in the imanner; it sliphabet of the English language, which cause so much misconstruction as I and J, as most people wrise them exactly elike. The rule for writing them properly and which descrees to be universelly adopted, is to run the J below the line, and I even with the line.

The new police law in New York is giving trouble. Mayor Wood has caused an injunction to be served on the newly created Police, Commissioner to prevent him from acting as such.—Mayor Wood gives bonds in the amount of $00,000 to abile the result. He has also notified to Police Captains to repudiate the Commissioner's authority.
