POETRY. A Mather's Prayer. Father? in the battle fray, Shelter his dear head I pray! Shelter his dear head I pray! Of Justice, Luberry and Right! Where the red half deadless talls,

Where the he read out and strong, Mally stuffing for the wrong; Where he caled of anyr steal Rings above the busin-deld; Where the suffing are in histing abot, With bursting at all and whisting abot, Father it is my bury to know hearst, less as weacherous blade he presend:

Jake at whitesever uses my yer Pather! If my woman's heart-Paul good would in every part—Wandeen from The Marry 2014, After thops done reving effect, less thy sender, paying grees, Revery 2015, thought crose! If this moths thought crose if this moths thought crose if this moths who make me air water and the sender it is not be trougged.

For when mises shades of night.
Shot the bright world from my night.
When around the observed dre,
Galber bronker, meters, airs,
Then it miss my hoy's bright fone.
From the old familiar nines,
And my ned heatt randors beak

Ride him from my eyes once mere. Thus I dress, and kops and pray, Ali the warry hours saving; Ali the warry hours saving; Bes I know his ename in just, And I centre all my tymes. In My promise—as the day So shall they strength be alway; Yes! I need thy guidance settly. Father I let me do Thy will!
