party, and it behooves our best and most cautions men to come forward and take the lead in the management of its affairs. Our party organization must be maintained pure and undivided. The time-honored name of Democrat must not be dropped for any of the clap-trapparty names of the day. We must have no "bargain and sale" with our political enemies. To maintain our principles inviolate should be a higher consideration than the advancement of an individual member of the party. The Democratic party insist one to us, if they desire to mite to save the country, we can been of the semiwestly and will fall become the country will never agree to give up the broad platform of the Constitution and take a back asat on the narrow, contracted, sectional concern ersected at Chicago. If there were was a time that solemnly demanded that the Democratic party should stand immovably by its principles, and keep clear of disorganizers and their designs, open, insiduous or concealed, that time is now. At such a crisis whoever will stand by the Democratic party to resist the adversaries of the peace of the recomposition of the United States—we have an one sistently hold political fellowship, but with those who have no another the subscribers and their designs, open, the United States—we can have no affiliation. We prefer party to the Union, and the stability of the Constitution of the United States—we have an one of the peace than a union with such a party. The Democraty of Berks sounty have called their County Meeting and their designs and recombered them to the serious contained their designs and recombered them to the serious contained to the Democratic party to the Union, and the stability of the Constitution of the United States—we can have no affiliation. ty. Had its eigeneils permiler at the right time, all this would have been avoided: or at mast, the treasgrable act of secession from the Union-would have been comband to the six Cotton States, whose numerical and territortorial strength, as against the combin ed Border Slave States and the States ed Border Slave States and the States of the North, would have been so fee-ble and insignificant, that their as-tempt to set up an independent Con-federacy would have proved its futili-ty in less than three months. But Inderacy would have proved its futility in less than three meaths. But unfortunately for the country, the Democratic party had not the power to carry out its policy. Other counsels prevailed, and the consequences that were predicted, have come n all their dread reality. The country is involved in actual war; and while the in-tinctive particism of the Democratic party impels is to rally to the cratic party impels it to rally to the support of the Government, and to the support of the Government, and to the assertion of its legitimate suthority the Democracy of the County are invited to assemble in annual County meeting, in the Court House, in this place, on Tuesday evening the that our Democratic friends throughout the County will turn out on this coasion will turn out on this reasonable in annual manifest a becoming interest coaried by military name. This is and manifest a becoming interest ported by military power. This is in the welfare of the party. These the present mission of the National are trying times for the Democratic Democracy; and we hope that Berks, party, and it behooves our best and first as she always has been to stand higher consideration than the advancement of an individual member of the party. The Democratic party in never affiliate with the section al party that has so miserably failed in managing the National Government. The Republican eroud has whenever a chaine offered, chibited its hostility to the Constitution, and hence, to the Union, and the Democracy can form no part orpared of that party, but must ever stand antagonistic to its doctrines. They must come to us, if they desire to mite to save the country, we can never go to them. The Democratic party will never agree to give uphe broad platform of the Constitution and take a back seat on the narrow, contracted, sectional concern erected at Chicago. If there will stand immovably by its principles, and keep clear of disorganizers and their designs, open, insiduous or concealed, that time is now. At such a crisis whoever will stand by the Democratic party to resist the adversaries of the peace of the country, the integrity of the Union, and the stability of the Constitution, will be welcome to our supposed by the letter writers that the next movement will be a section of contracted and contracted in the country, the integrity of the Union, and the stability of the Constitution, will be welcome to our supported that at some of the Postoffices in the country, but must ever stand antagonistic to its doctrines.
