rough-haw them as we will." The name of Heary D. Foster was not before this Convention as a sandidate for Governor Is it not strange that the name of one who was not introduced before you as an office-seeker should receive the united vote of this Convention? The nomination of the interposition of an overraining Providence, and I scoept it as such.

The speaker, continuing, said he could not but regard this nomination, or rather, the circamatances under which it was offsetd—rironmetances on marvellons and extraordinary—as a special interposition of Providence for the good of the country, and the perspetuation of American liberty. [Cheers] What were the requisites possessed by any one of the condidates that were not possessed by Henry D. Foster? He combined all the qualities embraced in these geotlemen. He was as honest and spright as eld Jacob Fry, [cheers] he was as a becomplished as the cloquent and accomplished Witte, [cheers] he was as brave and true as the mobile old Hopkina, [cheers ;] in short, every quality presented in any sendidates was to be found in Henry D Foster. The people demanded a san such a Henry D. Foster is, and they would accound the somination by over ten thousand majority. [Cheers] people demanded a man such as Heary D. Foster is, and they would accound the sounisation by over ten thousand majority. [Cheers.]

After further allusions to the candidate, Mr. Montgomery mid, I have another duty toperferm. I have to isvite you to another every toperferm. I have to isvite you to another every toperferm. I have to isvite you to another every toperferm. I have to isvite you to another duty toperferm. I have to isvite you to another duty toperferm. I have to isvite you to another every toperferm. I have to isvite you to said a simple tear. I do not want a single man in this houses to be said, but to rejoice with accessing great juy that the time of the harvest has come, and that the dead have gone to their final account. [Cheers,] Is it not a good thing that the seld geotlemen are dead [-[laughter.] Is it not a good thing that the seld geotlemen are dead [-[laughter.] Is it not a good thing that we ean forget them, and rejudes over the fact that they are dead and buried so deap down that the leands of no political reservations will over dig them sp? Having performed these fanced service, we have nothing to do with Lesompton and and Lesompton any lenger, but we are old-tachiosed, thorough-going Jefferson and Jackson Democrats.

Mr. Montgomery went on to show by an argument that the question of slavery in the Territaries was a indical question, and should be cettled by the Supreme Court. The quarrel between the later and the Supreme Court was the tribunal to deside the quarrel. After alinding again to the flattering prospects of success, complimenting the Coursestion es their neemination, and thanking them for this reception, he retired amid great applause.

After Mr. Montgomery had taken his seet, the head played "And Lang Byne," and the voices of many delegates joised in singing this heart stirring song.

FOR GOVERNOR HENRY D. FOSTER,

Republican Corruption Fund.

Mr. COVODE, of Pennsylvania, who pose the "corruption" of the Democrat-ie party, has issued a circular letter calling upon the adherents of the Redullars, which he sold for one hundred probably be contributed, and as members of the committee. As a large sum will probably be contributed, and as the members of the committee will not seal more of it than they may committee for themselves in collecting and dark the members of the committee will not sea sterpres celculated to prove the proposed of the month of the money? Mr. For it is not seal more changed in the people are beginning it, there can be no doubt that will be publican printer to the House, was sent through Pennsylvania with a large corruption fund in 1850, to buy up the beginning and nearly proposes. When he was a state of the publican printer to the House, was sent through Pennsylvania will not a proper sea through the pennsylvania will not see the proposity of the summer sent of the state of the publican printer to the House, was sent through Pennsylvania will not a proper sea through the pennsylvania will not be sent there again?

The Republican fenders must be a little search of the responsible objects of the country. It was said to be been the eagen of the service of the summer sent of the stress of the service of the servi casing upon the adherents of the Re-publican party to contribute money for carrying on the approaching cam-paign. The funds received in response to this call will go into the hands of the Republican Committee of which Mr. Covodu is the leading spirit, to be used or disposed of at the discretion of of the leaders in the owns and holod. On Friday last these miserable men ended their worse than miserable ives. As a matter of course, we are now to hear repeated again the same extravagant enlogies upon their characters which the abolitionists made in behalf of the virtues of John Brown. Let us have them. Let now the mouths of the blasphemous be opened, and let railings go forth against the laws both of God and man. The murderer and the theif have been executed, and it is meet for those who symmaths with that class of men, to break paganage, a rival to the great coloring bathise with that class of men, to break model fold. Cat your yet upon a map forth in landation of their virtues. But the same of the same would it be for these pitiful mock philanthropists to expend their energies in teaching brotherhood and peace, in exhorting all men to be diligent in supporting the laws of their country and giving to all sections the and protection which the Connot forget to mention the reasons why two of their fellow-citizens have ended their lives upon the scaffold—how they armed themselves with s that make us shudder to look weapons that make us studied to look at, sales upon an unprotected village in the deed hour of night and butcher-ed without merey their own fellow men. Let them paint the access of herrors and distress with half the seel they manifest in praising the felons, and to very some that justice will get

A Smart Personile.

There was until recently a clock amed Вохитон in one of the Departments at Washington, who, althcontent to hold on to his office under the administration until something better would turn up, had a holy horror of the "Lecompton swindle." His honest heart revolted against it, and if he did not throw up his office in diagust, at the dictation of his peculiarly tender conscience, he did what he doubtless considered the next most honorable thing—he played spy on the administration and furnished FORMEY choice lies for his "occasional" correspondence. One of the first things FORMEY did after his election as Clerk, was to give BOLNEON an appointment under him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him; and one of BOLNEON'S first acts after getting the appointment tuder him is considered thousand to appoint a committee. ntent to hold on to his office und first acts after getting the appointment to appoint a won-mixed was to get hold of Postoffice cortificates.
