GEM. SCLEILANN ACCEPTANCE.

We give in to-day's paper the letter of General M'Cleilan formally accepting the Chicago nomination for the Presidency. It is a virtual confession that the declaration of principles adopted by the Democratic National Convention is at variance with the interests of the government, and needs to be modified-charitably explained, and needs to be modified-charitably explained, and needs to be modified charitably explained, and needs to be modified charitably explained, and needs to be modified to the first the Union. This is a most be reculent tack, and no sincere, earnest and honest patrict would have attempted it; but Gen. M'Cleilan has undertaken the hopeless enterprise, and has wasted every element of strength he possessed with many loyal Democrate because of his prenumed manifiness and unfaltering devotion to the government and its faithful soldiers and supporters.

The letter of Gen. M'Cleilan will, when he shall have been rejected by a loyal people by an overwhelming vot of the sectific of all the qualities of a true soldier and zealous partici at the feet of a cuncluve of treacherous politicians. Their aim is well undertood. Traitor and loyalist alike read their plafform and appreciate their purposes; and Gen. M'Cleilan, instead of spurning their treachery and giving heart and hope to loyal men by manfully esponeing the cause of the imperied frepublic, tremblingly approaches the timitor's erred -sugar-courts it with gentle-pologies; diffused with the doct from and intention of fidelity to our Nationality, and then a wallow; the doct down and the contraction of the development in the down of the cause of the imperied frequent and best down and the contraction of fidelity to our Nationality, and then a wealtow; the does down and the cause of the imperied frequents and best down and the down and the contraction of fidelity to our Nationality.

It is unbordally jesuition, separation and treatherman and if imprired by the genium of Treason itself, could not be more hollow, hypogratical and deceptive in its aim. the masses of the people in the revolited States would use awith adarwity bad they, an opportunity, we'do not doubt, but, would Joff. Pavis and the other leaders and officials in the robel government? What have they to gain by such a peace? Now Mr. Bax's is one of the rulers of the World as despot before whose insolute prerugatives fegitimate despots of the Old World seem likeral and Democratic. It matters not that his throne is erimomed, with the bload of hundreds of thousands unide a withered waste by his fendish ambition; that he rules over a land unide a withered waste by his fendish ambition; that he has exchanged peace for war; plentiforabject want; and made his dominions our vast centerly for his wanton sacrifices; still he is a ruler—one of the proteintes of the World, and will be consent to peace, on the basis of re-minor? If successful in maintaining his powly, he may measurably efface the in-frany with spick plant if he shall surrender his bloody, wasting power, he must be shun-red of all men while living, and his name go down to posterily as the collosed mon-ster of the human race. Will be consent weeked in the instory of crimic; and yet, the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, both his meaningless fourishes on the side of var should officed some faithfests man, hastens to declare that traitors must be welcomed to the family fold, and the highest honors and prerogatives lavished upon them. And this from one, too, under whose military lead, full fifty thousand brave soldiers found untimely grave assertifiers to the femilish feroidy of twittors! Is there no avenging lamid this side of the Eternal bar for such wantom unrefer? Are there no violated lawy and sacred principe of order and government to vindicate? Is the power of justice so paralyzed in this great Republic that it can have no terrois in its sweep to publy the arms of future traitors? Alacs for the warrior of the Peninsala and of Antican have no terrors in its sweep to pulsy the arms of future traitines? Alast for the warrier of the Peninsula and of Antie-tain, for what she fitted in the dark bits sword for what sacrifice thousands of, brave men in sanguinary war, if treason is no crinic? If it be a crime such as will justify the rerible arbitre of the sword, must it be crowned with honor in its dying house, and exalted to the highest trusts of the Nation when its water fin power; muldiplication of the Nation when its water fin power; muldiplication in the state of the highest trusts of the Nation when its water fin power; muldiplication in strain and the form of the power in the state of the state of

We pass hastify over Gen. MCCellan's war upon himself. The weakness that dearfed him from the soldier and portion to the ackness and a monitoring politician, explains it all. The first to demand a conceription of near to fill the part of the part and honored and secured for the future, until it shall be their pleasure to resert to rabellion, nuried earlier from the field, to proserve order at home, is veriferous for the triumph of MCCellain in Novyhaber to the first of the part of the part of the part of the reserve of the right of the part of the part of the right of the part of the part of the part of the part of the Legislatures; the rebel Congress and every aline chement or branch of rebel power. We have given to garbled extracts, now hive we selected exceptional articles. We have taken the latest and most authoritative testinguy of Mr. Davis himself, and his abloet journals, and they breath but one sentiment that of cease-less, relembess war until we either attrectly distroy their military power and dispersatheir government, or submit to a base cowardly severence of the Union of the States.
