that do they do at the Horings The question is easy to mak; But to answer it fully, my dear, Were rather a berious task. And yet, in a bantering way, As the magnisor mocking bird sings, I'll renture a bit of a song To tell what they do at the Springs!

Imprimis, my darling, they drink
The water so sparkling and clear;
Though the flavor is none of the best And the odor axceedingly queer; But the fluid is mingled, you know, With wholesome medicand things, So they drink, and they drink, and they drink, And that's what they do at the Springs!

Then with appetites as keen as a knife, They hasten to breakfast or dine;

They hasten to breathast or disc;
(The latter precisely at three,
The former from serea till nise.)
Ye Gods:—what a rustle nod reah
When the eloquent doner bell rings:
Then they sat, and they cat, and they cat,
And that's what they do at the Springs:

And that a what they do at the spring.

Now they stroll in the beautiful walks,

Or ioll in the shade of the trees;
Where many a whoper is beard
That never is told by the brease;
And hands are sommingled with hands,
the manufacture of community rines.

The drawing rooms now are abiane,
