RICHMOND HAS FALLEN! -- the rebel cap-al: the last rebel strong-hold, has sured to the matchless heroism of the rendered to the matchless heroism of the Army of the Potomac. The hope so long d has at last reached the fulness of on, and the soldiers of crime retire from their long and stubbornly defended citadel of power, with their last army shatments: with no safety in re-tered to fragments; with no safety in re-treat; no hope in further resistance to the overwhelming might of the brave defend-ers of the Republic.

Let loyal men rejoice! We have had victories before—the same danutless cour-age; equal endurance in the defense of the right; but never has a trimingle been achieved so crowning in the measure of its results—so interly destructive to the country's foes. It leaves them without an army; without a government; without credit; without hope. It is the great ret-ributive stroke which in the fulness of His-time, has vindicated Humanity and Jatime, has vindicated Humanity and Jus-tice!

It proclaims the safety of the Republic!

R proclaims the safety of the Republic!
Centuries hence, when the heroism of the last four years will still be undimmed on the shifting cantrase of the past, the victories which enlminated in the possession of Richmond, will be pointed to as the fields where the sons of the North Imprized their Freedom in their mobilest blood, and re-achieved their title to their proud in heritance—the best, the most beneficent government on earth.

All honor to the gallant Army of the Potomae! How mobily it has struggled, undannted by defeat, against the choicest troops of the foc, let it's sacrifices on the Poninsula, at Antietam, at Frederickburg, and from the Wildermess to the Southe-sideroad and Richmond, tell. It has made the beroism of all armies in the history of heroism of all armies in the history of warfare pale before its unfaltering courage and grand achievements; and now it titly erowns the glory of the war by striking the last great blow to make treason hated by all the living, and shunned by all who shall live hereafter. Gratefully indeed shall live hereafter. Gratefully indiced will a long imperilled Nation cherish the noble deeds: the patient endurance: the undagging gallantry of the Army of the Potomac, and the memory of its shain rich sacrifices to the madness of treason—will live in perpetual freshness in every patriot beart.

The Republic is rescued from the murderous grasp of "Treason—thanks to a faithful North and to a just and beneficent God!"

THE NIAGARA PEACE EFFORT.

THE STABLAR PEACE EFFORT.
We give in another column of to-day's paper a letter written to the President in July last, by Mr. Greeley, of the Tolhum, on the necessity of proposing or receiving terms of adjustment to close the war. Important as is everything coming from the pen of the ablest journalist and one of the most intelligent and experienced politicians of the Nation, this letter of Mr. Greeley possesses-excepted importance.

he remarkable letter of the President, e by Maj. Hay to be delivered to us. Sanders, Clay and Holeombe, sinent rebel civilians then at Nugara, then appeared in the public prints out any explanation of the circum-ces which called it forth, astonaded as it then appears to the circum swithout any explanation of the circum stances which called it forth astomoled the Nation, and staggered many of the truest friends of the administration. Few condemned, but there were few who did not regret that such a letter had been written and so, delivered, as it appeared to afford he rebel leaders the very project they most desired to the the Southern beart, and unite their desponding and divided people in support of the chellion. All the public knew was that Messres Chay, Holeomb and Sanders were in Canada; that they had been visited by prominent Democratic politicians, such as Hon, dense and others of this State, that a crazy adventurer named leweth had been publicle greace, propositions to and from everybody with whom he could get andience; but in all this there was no visible motive for a declaration from Mr. Lincoln in the might weaken, but course now present strengthen the administration and its cause.

We are glad that the letter of Mr. Girestey has found its way into the public prints. How its huppened troome to its by way of Engkud—as it its rapeared in the Manchester Extrainer, is of mo consequence. It is cought that it is now public property; that the door to the secret working of the Nisquar Pence of fort has been unlocked, and we may now learn the whole history of that councy of errors. Mr. Gireckey apened the correst pondence on the subject with the letter we print to-day, and it will be observed how carriest is the tome that pervades his entertees; in behalf of peace. He sought now carriest is the tome that pervades his entertees; in behalf of peace. He sought now the subject will have been entirely until the destruct, or because such a peace most because it would have been distincted in the abstract, or because such a because the world have been destructed in the peace and because it would have been according to the construction and its great cause should command; but he caused the sought peace to save "fireds" and its time days since varieties of "our bleeding, and to save some little of "our bleeding, but an expense of square for has been refuled save it was a supposed to the subject of the peace of the considerations in conjuction with "the momentons election soon to occur in North Carolina" and the "draft to be en-forced in the Free States," induce Mr. Greekey to Genand, in the most positive erras that Mr. Lipcoln should do some-thing to prove to all, loyal and disloyal, that be was not prosecuting was merely for the love of war.

This letter was written in July last just at the darkest period of the year: when gloom long over the Nation like a pall, pandyzing its energies and wasting is hope. Strant had reached the Jame-without decisive results after an appalling sacrifice of life: Sherman had been fought at every step from Chattanong on his
